

Conger writes that San Antonio police reports indicated a 2007 rape still under investigation that occurred "in the same quad of condos where one of Dr. Hall's girlfriends supposedly lived," and that Bexar County detectives say Vurbeff's assault case also remains open.

Law enforcement will not and cannot say whether Dr. Hall is even a person of interest according to Conger, learning what TIs throughout the nation and beyond report when trying to learn why they are being precision targeted with military grade weapons and kept under what constitutes extremist foot soldier "surveillance."

Dr. Hall alleges to have been targeted by the same extremist groups as Verbeff including fellow doctors and the Texas Medical Board for blowing the whistle on the criminal activity. He then faced the standard white-coat bogus diagnoses of "probable delusional disorder" and ordered psychiatric treatment that whistleblowers consistently report.

Another tactic targeted individuals consistently report is being drugged, effective for subsequent rape, confinement for illicit drug-related charges, or loss of career. Operatives drugged Dr. Hall with cocaine periodically to ensure he would lose his medical license.

Now with medical license reinstated, Dr. Hall has appeared on cable TV shows, late-night radio and is developing his own radio program.

While San Antonio police and Bexar County Sheriff's deputies say they continue to investigate Verbeff's case, Conner highlights that within President Obama's first 100 days in office, he federalized most local police departments so that most police now take direct orders from Janet Napolitano's U.S. DHS and "have been told to stay silent about the attacks," sworn to secrecy on "national security" grounds.

To date, no police or sheriff is known to have broken those orders.

No major human rights group has offered to advocate for the ever increasing population of human targets, despite their pleas for help to survive.

Sources

A New Breed: Satellite Terrorism in America

KENS 5 (Watch its investigative news report here)

The Sovereign

Photo: A New Breed: Satellite Terrorism in America/John Hall

© Deborah Dupré, February 2010

Learn more, take responsible action, and keep asking, "Why?" and "Why not?" For more information about rogue counterintelligence and counterterrorism targeting innocent human targets, subscribe to Dupré Reports free at the top right of this article. Permission is granted to copy and post or forward only the title and first paragraph of this article with the link to this original site. Email Dupre' for more information about how you can write for Examiner or for permission to republish this article. Support Dupre's human rights work and her Targeted Individual book in progress by visiting her website, www.DeborahDupre.com

Sponsored Content on Examiner

Find the Most Comfortable Pants With This Fit Guide